Dan's SALUTES OUR COVER ARTISTS

Dear Friends,

This special edition of Dan's Papers features about 50 paintings from the 1,200 paintings that have graced the cover of Dan's Papers during the last 22 years. We could not have prepared this collection without the efforts of all of the artists who have shared their work with us. I am deeply grateful to them for that.

When I started the newspaper 50 years ago, the community of Springs, along with the City of New York, was the center of the international art world. Willem de Kooning was painting here. Syd Solomon was here. Jackson Pollock, who was considered at that time the most important artist in the world, had died in a car crash here just a few years earlier. Ibram Lassaw was here. Robert Rauschenberg was here.

All of these world-class artists had created a culture in Springs, where, it was said, the filtered light from the sky was almost heavenly. To a lesser degree, Southampton had an artists' colony too. Larry Rivers painted there. Fairfield Porter painted there. Roy Lichtenstein painted there.

Young artists would come out to see these great men and women and view their work in their studios. The art world here was unparalleled in importance.

During the next 20 years, these early post-war artists began passing from the scene. At the same time, although many new artists were coming here and opening new studios, the importance of art in America went into a decline simply because the focus of the nation had moved on to other things. Though the crowds at the gallery openings remained large, those attending often seemed to be at the openings for the "scene" rather than the art.

In 1987, as a gesture of support and in recognition of the historical importance of the art world to this community, I thought it would be a good idea to begin featuring an oil painting, in full color and on good stock, as the cover of each week's Dan's Papers.

It began as an idea I had at a dinner held at the home of Johanna Vanderbeek on Oak Lane in Amagansett. Johanna, a painter herself, was the widow of Stan Vanderbeek, the experimental filmmaker who did much of his later work while teaching filmmaking at the University of Maryland. At the table were eight painters.

"What do you think would happen if I asked you painters to put your paintings on the cover of the newspaper?" I asked.

I explained I could not afford to pay to do this. But I thought the tribute and the spotlight on the particular painter's work would be worth the effort. As for the paintings, they would be returned. I was told bluntly by one of them that no painter would do this on those terms. I dropped the subject.

But I persevered. And soon, with the help of people like Elaine Benson and Ruth Vered, two prominent gallery owners, I did locate painters who would like to have a cover of Dan's Papers.

The reaction to this was swift. People loved the covers. They were souvenirs to some. To others, fine prints. Soon, I learned, people were carefully blading out the paintings and framing them to put on their walls. Soon after that, I heard from the painters themselves. They were ecstatic about what I was doing. They told me that the spotlight on the paintings on the cover greatly enhanced their reputations and their ability to sell their art.

And so I have continued on all these years. A few years ago, somebody told me that I was officially a curator.

Well, I've done my best. At grad school at Harvard, I studied art history, painting, sculpture, architecture, city planning and landscape architecture. I didn't do much with what I learned after grad school. But in choosing these paintings, my studies have served me well.

My standards? The paintings have to be technically excellent, colorful, evocative of this art community, emotional and fabulous. Often the painting celebrates the beach or the dunes or the farmland. We live in a beautiful place, after all. Physically, the paintings have to be taller than wide. And they also have to have a place where we can put the Dan's Papers logo without ruining the painting. Often we publish only a part of the painting.

I have used paintings made with acrylics and watercolors and other media, but oil paintings are the best. Sometimes the thickness of the paint gives the work a three-dimensional feel that makes it even more extraordinary.

I hope you enjoy this collection as much as I have enjoyed choosing the covers that have resulted in it. Of the more than 1,200 paintings over the years, the Dan's Papers art staff has selected this sampling of 50 for your pleasure.

I would also like to thank the many advertisers who have "adopted" one of these paintings, placing their ads alongside and on the back of them. It's been a wonderful collaborative effort.

BEFORE

AFTER

"As far as I can remember, I couldn't smile without being self-conscious. Thanks to my husband for finding The Popper Dental Team and giving me the encouragement to get implants. It has only been a few months and I am smiling without even thinking about it. I don't look at it anymore as a cosmetic restoration, but a restoration of my mind and overall health. Thanks again, you have changed my life." - Lillian

AFTER

"My life has changed personally and professionally since I've met The Popper Dental Team and their Staff. Since my procedure, I'm able to go to exercise classes and start a running routine because I am not embarrassed to open my mouth to breathe. I have lost 20 pounds, and I feel great about myself.

At work, I am at ease at meetings and conferences because I know I can contribute to discussions without covering my mouth or without looking in other directions. I can confidently speak face to face with everyone.

At first I thought I was too old to care about the appearance of my mouth. In addition, I didn't even address the health concerns that go along with "oral deprivation." It is so different now. With all my heart, I thank you all for a brand-new, healthy, beginning.

I look great!!!" - Marcia

BEFORE

AFTER

"I had my dental implant procedure done with the Popper Dental Team. The staff and doctors made me feel very comfortable. The procedure was quick and pain-free. I high recommend the Popper Dental Team for dental implants.

Thanks again," - Shirley

I have received many compliments that they can't believe how real my teeth look! Dr. Marlisa did a great job. The before and after pictures are amazing!!

Dan's Papers

MARCH 11, 2005

ART BY JAMES DELGROSSO

The Lenz Winery is a relatively small, boutique winery with an annual production of less than 10,000 cases. Founded in 1978, Lenz has some of the most mature vineyards in the region, or - - given the extensive replanting of California vineyards to avoid further damage from the phylloxera louse - - in the country.

In 1996, we held an in-house tasting of Lenz wines and leading wines from around the world - - just to see how we were doing. The tasters were winemaker Eric Fry, vineyard manager Sam McCullough, Tom Morgan (the sales and marketing head) and owner Peter Carroll. This blind tasting convinced us that Lenz wines felt perfectly at home in the company of much better known and more expensive wines. This was at a time when the wine press was consistently damning Long Island wines with faint praise: "The wines can sometimes be quite good," they would say, "but they are too expensive." We decided to host a comparative, double-blind tasting in New York City to make a point. We hired a wine publicist to organize the tasting on our behalf, so that none of the tasters would know that Lenz wines, or even Long Island wines, were involved. She invited noted wine professionals including wine writers, sommeliers and chefs. The tasting was held one afternoon at noted New York City restaurant, Le Montrachet. It was extremely nerve-racking waiting for the results to emerge. However, when they finally did, Lenz had performed very respectably in this public forum, especially in the comparative tasting involving the Lenz merlots and Château Pétrus.

Other tastings followed, including one in Paris in 1998. Our most recent tasting was held in April 2008 at Le Bernardin in New York City. At this tasting the ten judges, including two Masters of Wine, tasted not only Lenz Old Vines Merlot against Château Pétrus, but also Lenz Old Vines Cabernet Sauvignon against Château Latour, and Lenz Old Vines Chardonnay against Olivier Leflaive Batard-Montrachet. Complete results of this tasting are available on our website: www.lenzwine.com.

The outcome of all these tastings can be summarized as follows: Sometimes the Lenz wine got more points than its renowned French counterparts and sometimes fewer. But the average number of points awarded to the top two wines was usually within one point out of a hundred and almost always within two points. This means, as a New York Times put it: "... how do Lenz wines that cost from $10 to $30 stack up in head-to-head competition with French superstars? They equal or surpass them." Well, thank you. We couldn't have said it better ourselves!

All Old Vines wines as well as our Blanc de Noir, White Label Chardonnay, Gold Chardonnay, Gewurztraminer, Cuvée (ultra-brut sparkling wine), Merlot, Estate Selection Merlot & Cabernet Sauvignon are available to taste at The Lenz Winery. As our Old Vines wines are produced in very limited quantities and only when growing conditions are superb, they are sold on an allotment basis to our subscribers. Visit the Lenz Winery to learn more about becoming a subscriber.

Open daily, 10am - 6pm.

COMPLIMENTARY

Not green water.

The same sparkling, refreshing, crystal clear water that you love.

With some big advantages.

Lower utility costs for you, our neighbors and our town.

Energy demands are exploding past the point where LIPA could meet our needs without adding more power lines.

And, greatly increasing our utility costs to pay for it.

To help prevent this, we formed a committee including the Long Island Pool & Spa Association (LIPSA), Kazdin and local town building officials.

Together, we developed an effective and relatively inexpensive solution.

Greatly simplifying it, on existing pools, pumps need to be replaced with new energy efficient multi-speed ones.

New pools, will be built, using the new improved technology.

When not in use, all pools need to be covered.

Just doing this, every pool owner will save at least $350-$500 each season, in their utility bills.

And you're saving yourself and you neighbors from out of control utility costs. Come on in to find out more about saving money

America's Propane Company

If a propane company offers a super low price, and they offer to fill your tank the same day, think about this:

And there is no charge for this. Zero.

IN THE WRONG HANDS

The correct hand belongs to Despatch of Southampton Moving & Storage. Our movers are well versed on the subject of moving with Tender Loving Care. And they learn more on this subject in monthly meetings — conducted by Despatch management. Some of the topics discussed are: "New ways of packing difficult items.— like your Baby Grand." "How to eliminate stress on moving day." "The value of staying organized and on schedule." and most importantly: "Care for your clients belongings as though they were your own."

THE 14TH CENTURY COULD BE HISTORY.

At Despatch, we're as sensitive with your possessions as we are with your specific needs. After wrapping your belongings with extra-thick padding, we take them to our state-of-the-art warehouse — for storage or delivery. Not only will we move you in peace of mind, we'll move you any where in the world.

So instead of losing your head over moving, call Despatch. We have great history with the 14th century.
